

Risk Control Services

Prevention is a key component of a total health and productivity strategy.

Using a proactive approach, WorkPartners will assemble in-house resources to effectively assess and contain adverse events — before they occur.

Our risk-control services include:

- Risk identification and assessment of your organization's loss data, including comparisons to industry benchmarks and standards to identify key trends and areas for improvement.
- Ergonomic assessments to identify historical and potential future injuries caused by repetitive tasks and motion. WorkPartners will collaborate with your organization to install effective programs, processes, and policies to reduce those risks.
- OSHA compliance training by our in-house team of safety experts to keep your organization compliant.
- Full risk analysis and customized risk-control management programs for multiple industries.

The WorkPartners difference is our full complement of world-renowned in-house resources. Our staff includes risk-control specialists, safety directors, claims adjustors, exercise physiologists, physical therapists, nurses, physicians, behavioral specialists, medical directors, registered dietitians, health and wellness experts, operations professionals, and IT and analytics experts.
